

After a bitter divorce, nurse Imelda Tagaro would do anything to keep from loving again. But when movie star Devin Ryan is injured on a local movie set and rushed to Dogwood Regional Medical Center, Imelda catches his eye in a big way. While Devin recovers on Med-Surg South, Imelda's determination to resist his charms fades a little more each day. Will Devin ever find a way to win Imelda's heart? Will she ever be willing to gamble on love again? And who will be lost from the team on Med-Surg South forever?

"Amy Glenn Vega tells her stories with great sensitivity. Broken Heart explores the phenomenon of loss, death, and dying from many perspectives with compassion. Nurses will find this story hard to put down. Imagine, getting continuing education credits for your pleasure reading and gaining insight into one of the most difficult issues with which nurses struggle!"

Amy Glenn Vega is not a nurse, nor does she play one on TV. However, she has worked closely with nurses over the past fifteen years in her career as a health care educator and a former Emergency Medical Technician-Intermediate. She obtained her Masters in Business Administration and Masters in Health Administration at Pfeiffer University, and her Bachelor of Science in Health Education at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill. She has served in multiple roles in health care education, to include community health, patient education, and staff development. A gifted storyteller, Amy has combined the power of story with teaching in the educational fiction series, "Nursing Novellas." Amy is also a North Carolina Registered Health Educator and was recently appointed as a Fellow to the Academy of Health Care Education Professionals.
